

December 14, 2021

On behalf of the Board of Trustees, faculty and staff of the High Meadows Graduate School of Teaching and Learning, I am announcing that the Graduate School is actively seeking a partnership with another institution of higher education to best fulfill our mission and vision. If a partnership with another institution cannot be secured, the School will cease academic operations on March 31, 2022. After that date, any remaining enrolled students will complete their academic program through collaboration with Boston University's Wheelock College of Education and Human Development. High Meadows will provide transitional academic instruction and support to all enrolled students through June 30, 2022.

High Meadows' leadership has been in regular communication with the Massachusetts Department of Higher Education to ensure that the transition is orderly and complies with all applicable Board of Higher Education regulations. We will share updates on our progress with members of our community and keep stakeholders informed as information is available.

Yours sincerely,

Deborah Hirsch, Ed.D.
President
